THE WORK GOES ON.

As time continues to make encroachments upon the future, the day when the people will go to the polls to determine upon the future of the republic comes nearer. As the future is made less by the movement of time the feeling becomes more intense over the future of the republic. It is becoming a settled conviction that the republic of Jefferson and those who aided him in building it will be secure for the present, provided the will of the better class of people is not overcome by the use of corrupt methods among the thoughtless and careless, by those who are seeking to destroy it.

The enthusiasm at New York on Tuesday evening surpassed anything known in the city to that time, at a meeting of the people in a national campaign, which means that the feelings of the masses are enlisted and harnessed in a very unusual manner. There is in the issues made by the platforms of the parties acting together more that applies to the mind for discussion and appeals to the judgment for settlement, and as a consequence includes the feelings of the people who are patriotic than has been presented to them since the Federal party had an existence.

Hamilton and those of like mind who were with him were gentlemen whose convictions were honest and whose action was intended to secure a form of government which they deemed would be the best for the future of the republic; but the people decided to have the more democratic form of Jefferson, which settled our form of government on a democratic basis, which has been applied to build a republic that represents all the better parts there are in man.

The principles upon which the republic is founded have had an effect upon the people, manifested through the development of the humane there is in them, which has made the better side of their nature overcome obstacles that were in the way of its superabundant expression. The first outcropping of the base side there is in our nature made an appearance against the Boers, and which is now being enforced against the Porto Ricans by starving them, and against the Filipinos by killing them.

The base outcropping comes from a source where there is not anything but cruelty, when it has the means to use it, which furnishes an explanation for its use, to which the body of the people are not committed, and will not be until they have had an opportunity to say through the ballot box that they are cruel by supporting the cruelty there is applied to the people who have lately come under our dominion.

There is not recorded in the history of nations, ancient or modern, a more treacherous, a more cruel and for that reason a more wicked change from the humane side to the cruel side of human nature, than was included in the work of McKinley's administration and in the work of the majority at the last session of Congress. The people out of their abundance of humane feeling fostered and cultivated as it had been under Democratic influences directed by a Democratic system of government declared with one voice, "We will go to the relief of the people of Cuba."

"The voice of that people in their distress has come up to us for years and we have heard their cry and said be hopeful, the time of your oppression will pass away, but we are now persuaded when the time of their oppression has passed away the people of Cuba will have passed away with the time," and our people went down and relieved them from a Spanish yoke.

By way of settlement of war charges and through the payment of an additional sum to Spain, we received at a price others of the people who were subject to that country many of whom were trying to escape by means of war from bondage. When treachery to the people of the islands began, more particularly did treachery to the people of the United States begin as their better intentions and feelings to relieve the oppressed were turned into means of oppression to many of the people, our efforts and better nature had gone out to aid; cruelty which followed treachery, was more especially applied to the unfortunate Islanders who are either dying of starvation or are being shot down by our army after the manner of the Spanish, because these people have not changed their nature, which is to be free to govern themselves.

Imperial force is applied to secure submission to the will of a tyrant who skulks behind a figurehead called McKinley. The real character of the tyrant is made plain in the work and character of Mark Hanna whose compass of a working man is a full stomach without regard to the material from which the filling is composed. The people will not support the work of the treacherous and the cruel who have betrayed the trust given by becoming an Imperial tyrant, or their meaning is misunderstood when twenty ministers of the gospel from different states apply in one week to the Democratic Central committee of the State of Ohio for political work on the stamp in the state against McKinley. Sixteen of the applicants have been life long Republicans. These applications clearly indicate that public conscience is excited to action and will give an account of itself where least expected.

MISINFORMED.

There was an article yesterday in the local columns of the JOURNAL under the heading "Standard and the University." The article came from a misinformed source, as there has not been any suspension of students. When the faculty of the University deems suspension to be a proper mode of discipline for a violation of the rules of the institution, it is their duty to suspend. They should be and are the exclusive judges of the necessity there is for suspension, or of any mode of punishment they may deem proper to select, to maintain obedience to rules.

Along the Line of Progress.

Vice-President and General Manager Dunaway of the N.C.O. railway is working a number of excellent reforms and establishing splendid innovations in the workings of his line.

He has arranged with General Manager Bowen of the S. V. R. R. for interchange of cars.

He has arranged for excursions to the magnificent forests and streams of the northern country.

He has established stations and will build loading corrals at several points along the line for the convenience of the traveling public and shippers.

He has entered into a contract with the California and Oregon Telegraph Company to dispatch trains by wire, something that has long been vitally needed.

He has extended an invitation to his patrons to come into communication with him to mutual advantage.

He has instituted a liberal policy, which invites instead of repelling traffic, and will add greatly to the net income of the road.

He has substituted passenger coaches for the stuffy compartment cattle car that travelers had previously been herded into.

This is only a beginning. The road will prosper and Reno will be enriched by the change in management.

Bryan Still Gaining.

Special to the JOURNAL.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Bryan talked to immense crowds in the Republican strongholds in central and western New York today.

Is for Bryan and Newlands.

A. O. Hash, a progressive farmer on the Truckee Meadows, has decided to cast his ballot for Bryan this election. Mr. Hash is one of our best known and most highly respected citizens. He votes as he talks, talks as he thinks, and is honest in his convictions.

The snows of three score winters have whitened the head of this worthy man. For forty years he has gone to the polls and cast his ballot for the party of the martyred presidents. He was one of the gallant boys in blue who sang a generation ago: "We are coming, Father Abraham, one hundred thousand strong." He fought for his country and his flag and would today give his life for the perpetuation of our free institutions and in defense of the principles of independence and emancipation.

But today he realizes that the grand old Republican party has traduced its honored name, sullied its glorious history and become a party of plunder. On the sixth day of November Mr. Hash will cast his first Democratic vote.

"I am for Bryan," he said, "because I realize that the Republican party has forsaken its God and become a worshipper of the golden calf. It has trampled upon the Constitution and Declaration of Independence and has entered upon a policy of subjugation and oppression. It has fostered gigantic trusts which oppress the poor. Yes, from today and henceforth I am a Democrat. I have not left my party, but my party has left me."

"I will support, to the limit of my powers, Francis G. Newlands for congress. He is a true and loyal Nevada, a liberal, public spirited man, a statesman of the highest rank and an honor to his State."

Errata.

The genius who presided over the local columns of the JOURNAL yesterday morning made two slips of the pen, for which the accustomed localizer was beset by well meaning but hard joshing friends.

The genius aforesaid buried a man one day before the funeral actually took place and expelled several boys from the University without its knowledge or the president or faculty.

T. J. Howard will begin hauling ore here from the Alicia, in Howard district, for shipment at Salt Lake. A large body of very rich blue copper ore has been uncovered in the mine.

Mr. Gest Departs.

Erasmus Gest, late potentate of the N.C.O., left for the east yesterday. Few are there to mourn his departure.

Yet morose, senile, bull headed and moss-backed as the old gentleman is, he has one point in his favor. He was kind to his employees. Insulting and pugnacious as he was toward his patrons and the public generally, Mr. Gest rarely gave an employe an angry word.

Yesterday a delegation of the boys waited upon him and their spokesman, Trainmaster Smith, presented him with a cane. The old man feelingly responded and there was a tear in his eye as he hid the grimy faced trainman adieu.

Hoyt's "A Texas Steer."

Hoyt's "A Texas Steer" will be played at the opera house tomorrow evening.
The piece tells the story of a wealthy Texan who has been elected to congress, and his experience in Washington. A charming love affair runs through it all, the girl being the newly elected congressman's daughter, and the man an army officer. Many characters are introduced well known in Washington official and social life.
The cast will practically be the same clever one that presented the piece in its opening season. The original and unsurpassed "Texas Steer Quartette" will be a feature of the performance.
The play is one of the best that ever came from the talented pen of Hoyt, and will undoubtedly be welcomed here by a large audience.

but getting thereby increased business.

A Reno Merchant Ends His Life
With a Pistol Bullet.

F. O. Pease, proprietor of the U. O.
D. store on Virginia street, committed suicide yesterday afternoon. He had been a sufferer from lung and stomach trouble for several years and in order to benefit his health he spent a large portion of the past summer and autumn camping in the mountains.
On some of these trips he was accompanied by A. S. Chamberlain of this city.

Three days ago he and Mr. Chamberlain drove out to the Deremer ranch for a few days outing. Yesterday morning he said to his companion: "I am going to make a change. Hereafter I will sleep late." Mr. Pease went to his camping wagon and laid down.

At noon Chamberlain opened the flap of the wagon and spoke to his friend.
There was no response and he called Roy Weldon, saying: "I think Pease is dead." Sure enough. When the pillow, which concealed his face, was drawn away a horrible sight was witnessed. The face and hair were covered with blood and brains. In his hand was a 32 calibre revolver, emptied of all but one shot. The bullet had entered his right eye and torn out the contents of his skull.

Coroner Peers was summoned and this official, accompanied by Commissioner Hymers and a JOURNAL reporter drove out immediately to the scene of the tragedy. The body was taken to the morgue and an inquest will be held at 10 this morning in Perkins' undertaking parlors.

The suicide was about 52 years of age. He came here from Oregon. He leaves a wife in this city. Mr. Pease resided in Reno for the past decade.
He was well-to-do but had few acquaintances outside of his business associations.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Gossip About the Migrating Public as They Come and Go.

Constable Golding was up from Wadsworth yesterday.

Mrs. McElroy and daughter of Eureka are guests at the Palace.

Luigi Della Piazzl has gone to San Francisco for medical treatment.

Ex-Congressman Binger Herman of Oregon is here doing Republican politics.

Judge E. L. King, Verdi's "most noble judge, most excellent young man"—as Shakespeare says—circulated about Reno a couple of hours last evening.

The Reno Star
Is a Bonanza.

Old George Wedekind of this city, the erstwhile piano tuner, who, six months ago was as poor as a church mouse, is now in receipt of a princely income. He was interviewed by a JOURNAL scribe yesterday and, baring his broken English here's what the old man said:

"Yes, we shipped another carload of ore today and have a carload more in the bins. Eight men are at work in my Reno Star mine and they are taking out rich ore at the rate of a couple of tons daily. I am getting ready to put on a night shift, which will double the out put. We will then send two carloads a week to the smelter. Our returns from the smelter now give us mining, transportation and working expenses and from $1,500 to $1,700 a carload profit. The deeper we go, the more ore we have and the richer it gets."

How's that for a man who wears a big patch on the seat of his trousers because he had been accustomed to this sort of raiment for so many years.
His good wife and sons also dispense with fine habiliments, being unspoiled by fortune.

A profit of $1,600 twice a week will give the old man an income something like $166,400 a year. Great Scott!
Let's all go prospecting.

Sunday's Excursion.

If Sunday is a clear, warm day there will be a large number of people enjoying the excursion. The writer ventures the assertion that more Renolites have visited New York than Clairville, although this beautiful region of the high Sierras is only four or five hours ride from this city. It is one of the most picturesque spots in California. If you take advantage of this opportunity you will never regret it. The train leaves at 7 o'clock.
Four dollars for the round trip.

An Unlucky Burglar.

A burglar attempted to enter Matt Parrott's place last night by the rear door. Matt took a shot at the fellow and dropped him but he got up and lit out.

Stewart Made a Talk in Carson.

Bunco Bill Stewart is a wise one.
He came to Nevada to make a speech, and the speech was made. It was delivered in a dark cellar to a concourse of Republican rats, caterpillars, gil-gies, gadabouts and other occupants of dark and unwholesome places. The speech wasn't made from a public rostrum, because Old Bill didn't want to have his clothes daubed. It's his only suit, O. P. Huntington is dead and money is hard to borrow.

The speech came to town last night in pamphlet form. Everybody got a copy. The streets are littered with them. There's a whole packing case full of them at Republican headquarters. Col. Maxson and Shorty, the bootblack, are distributing agents.
Get a copy. It can be put to a variety of uses.

It discusses love, worms, bugs and other things, and ends as follows:
"In conclusion, let me say that I shall not reply to personal abuse. I do not hold the people of Nevada responsible for violent language used in some of the newspapers of the State, nor for the denunciations of Democratic platform builders."

Grand Opera.

Every one is looking with extreme interest toward the coming opera season by the Boston Lyrics for two nights and Saturday matinee—Friday and Saturday October 26th and 27th and so that nothing should interfere with the great musical event, the Kindergarten committee composed of Mrs.
Dr. Lewis, Mrs. Webster, Mrs. John Michael and other ladies decided to postpone their entertainment which had been arranged for Friday, to some future date. This certainly was most generous on the part of the committee and ladies of Reno, as it will avoid any conflict and will afford those all an opportunity to hear "The Idol's Eye" and "The Fencing Master," given by the greatest of all operatic organizations—the Boston Lyric.

When Manager Harkinson learned of the facts, he expressed himself as being most grateful. He states that he has a highly expense account of $438.00 and such an opposition as a local Kindergarten would be dangerous—especially when such an affair is in the hands of the very class of amusement patrons who patronize high class entertainments. Said Faeha will be given at the matinee.

Shipments from the North.

H. L. Merrifield shipped 17 carloads of sheep from Amedee yesterday.

During the next ten days the narrow gauge road expects to handle 100 cars of sheep and 70 cars of cattle. Beef and mutton are coming in rapidly from northern Nevada, northeastern California and eastern Oregon.
